International Holocaust Remembrance Day

Eighty years ago, on 27 January 1945, the Red Army 'liberated' Auschwitz/Birkenau. Then, and not until then it seems, was the real tragedy of WWII realised.

Tomorrow, the global community will spend time reflecting on the Holocaust. Not just as an 'idea' but hopefully trying to touch what it must have been like, one day to enjoy life and the next to become part of the 'Final Solution'. "They brought us into Auschwitz. I could see the chimneys burning, smell the smoke. I did not think about it. They gave us tattoos: 33076. I did not have a name anymore; just a number." (Sara Polonski Zuchowicki, Local Survivor).

Many have questioned why it took so long for the world community to realise (and to believe) what was happening.

"Who was prepared to believe that millions of people were being seized for no reason whatever and led to slaughter by multiple means?

Who was prepared to believe that a whole people was being led to destruction at the diabolical will of a gang of contemptible criminals?

Who was prepared to believe that a whole people was to be exterminated to compensate for failure in a struggle for power and supremacy.

Who was prepared to believe that a people would blindly obey a law leading to death and destruction" (Zalmen Gradowski: 'The Auschwitz Camp').

Yet is it not true that there will come a time, far too soon, when we'll have no survivors left to tell their firsthand accounts of the Holocaust? Remembering the lessons of the millions of Jewish lives – and of many others of various ethnic origins – who were murdered, will be essential to shaping a better future. We cannot just 'move on' from this, can we? The Jews were commanded by God to remember their history and to pass it on to later generations. "The Holocaust manifested the veneer of civilization so thin and fragile that repetition was possible", wrote Sam Kaltman, another survivor. To forget is to risk repetition, is it not?

Pope Francis praying at the Wailing Wall

(Shield) Star of David

Among his many writings, Primo Levi, an Italian chemist and survivor of Auschwitz, wrote this poem as a reflection, an invitation and a challenge to his readers, to us.

*“You who live safe
 In your warm houses,
 You who find warm food
 And friendly faces when you return home.
 Consider if this is a man
 Who works in mud,
 Who knows no peace,
 Who fights for a crust of bread,
 Who dies by a yes or no.
 Consider if this is a woman
 Without hair, without name,
 Without the strength to remember,
 Empty are her eyes, cold her womb,
 Like a frog in winter.
 Never forget that this has happened.
 Remember these words.
 Engrave them in your hearts,
 When at home or in the street,
 When lying down, when getting up.
 Repeat them to your children.
 Or may your houses be destroyed,
 May illness strike you down,
 May your offspring turn their faces from you.”*

— Primo Levi (‘Survival in Auschwitz’; ‘If This is a Man’ 1947)

Take a little time tomorrow to appreciate our giftedness; the people God has given to us as companions or friends in life; and to resolve to oppose discrimination wherever and whenever we experience it.

Cleaning St Anne's – Asking For Help Again, Please

St Anne's is our parish church, and it is only with the support of a few that it is kept in such wonderful condition. Please let Loretta or me know when you can come and clean the church. There is a calendar in the porch at St Anne's – the door is always open for you to pop down and add your name.

It usually takes a couple of people a couple of hours to clean thoroughly. Tea and coffee on hand to keep you going!

I just need to be told when you are coming so that you have access for hot water etc.

Cards for Various Occasions

There will be a box of miscellaneous cards for various occasions at Princethorpe tomorrow. Please feel free to take one or more. A donation of £1.00 per card would be appreciated.

There is also the Piety cupboard in the Prayer Room at Princethorpe. Please take time to see Fergus if you would like to have a look. All items are £1.00.

The stamps can be left at St Anne's or handed to Loretta or myself. Thank you everyone for taking the time to help this good cause.

Please Save The Front Of Your Christmas Cards

Each year Pam and her assistants include the front of a Christmas card in the shoe-boxes. Please cut yours off, when you take them down, and give to Pam, Helen McGowan, or Loretta. Non-religious cards only please. Thank you

Do You Have Any Upcoming Anniversaries In Your Family? Special Birthdays or Wedding Anniversaries?

It is always a treat to have news of family celebrations. Please let Loretta or me know if you would like something added to the newsletter. A picture or two is always welcome.

Pretty Tea Sets Required!

If you have any pretty tea sets at home that you no longer want to keep, please bring them to St Anne's. We are also looking for any tiered cake stands you might have.

If you don't have any at home to donate, could you take a moment next time you walk past a charity shop to buy anything – even odd pretty cups and saucers will do.

All will become clear why St Anne's will need them in the next few weeks!

Responding To The Call Of Creation - January 2025 A Year of Extreme Weather

2024 was a year full of extremes. Climate change increases the intensity and frequency of extreme weather events, and we saw lots of them in 2024.

Last year the world experienced an additional 41 days of dangerous heat due to climate change which brought health risks and saw the Amazon River levels dropping by 90%.

Elsewhere, the Philippines experienced six typhoons in a single 30-day period, triggering landslides and floods. Unfortunately, these events are becoming increasingly common, and they highlight the urgency of climate action to reduce the impacts of climate change on the most vulnerable people in the world. News, Events, Opportunities - Upcoming events for 2025

Global Climate Summit 2025 4-7th June 2025, University of Oxford

This will include local activities themed around climate justice in partnership with UN Human Rights. Look out for talks, exhibitions, concerts and more. Earth Day 2025 Tuesday 22nd April 2025 This year's theme is Our Power, Our Planet. Its goal is to unite the collective global commitment to renewable energy, to generate clean electricity for everyone.

COP 30 10th-21st November 2025

The 30th Conference of Parties on Climate Change will take place in Brazil in November.

Live Simply Be still. After the busyness of the festive period, take some time to just be still and to sit in God's presence in his creation.

Whether it's looking out of a window with a cup of tea, watching your favourite nature documentary or going outside, build in time for stillness into your routine.

Live Sustainably

As the new year begins, how can you live sustainably? Pick one, simple, achievable action that you can complete this year to make a positive impact. For example, buy in bulk to reduce packaging ratios, or eat seasonal food, or make sure you actually turn devices off at the wall, or only boil the amount of water you need.

Live in Solidarity

Nelson Mandela once said: "Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world". This year, why not show solidarity to those facing the brunt of the climate crisis and to future generations to come, by learning more about this planet: its wonders and the threats it's facing. Be curious, ask questions and look for answers. Useful starting points are: The Royal Society: <https://royalsociety.org/news-resources/projects/climate-change-evidence-causes/basics-of-climate-change> The UN: <https://www.un.org/en/climatechange/what-is-climate-change>
